Spend a Study Day travelling along the Spanish Coast, examining the works and legacies of three Spanish artists.

Barcelona grew exponentially in the nineteenth and early twentieth century and Antoni Gaudí's commissions enhanced this seaside city and left an indelible architectural mark on its streets.

The great Pablo Picasso grew up in the Andalucian coastal town of Málaga, once famous for its wines. His own journey by boat first to the windy northern town of La Coruña with its wild coastal beaches and then on to Barcelona will be uncovered during this light-filled Study Day as we look forward to the Summer.

Joaquin Sorolla caught the fabulous light of the sea in Valencia, his beloved hometown but he also travelled the length and breadth of Spain exploring its rituals, music, and dance in mountain top towns and near the seaside.

Jacqueline is an art historian and linguist. After a career in academic teaching at Birkbeck College, University of London, and Westminster School, she is now a freelance lecturer. She is course director and lecturer at the V & A, and lectures at The Royal Academy and a number of private institutions. Jacqueline is Managing Director of Art and Culture Andalucía running residential courses in Andalucía, Southern Spain in the art and culture of the region. Her most recent book, 'Goya: Master of Art' (Prestel), was published this Spring.
